Explore Global Church Hymnody at April Meeting

Using music from the global Church is a great way to expand your choir's and congregation's repertoire. However, the pieces we find in our hymnals and hymnal supplements often lack important information about musical style and accompaniment, a pronunciation guide, and suggestions about where and how to use them in worship. With this information, perhaps we can be better equipped to teach them and find ourselves more closely connected to believers from Asia to Latin America.

At our April meeting, Dr. C. Michael Hawn, one of the country's leading experts on music from the global Church, will help to "fill in" some of the gaps that we may face when approaching music from other parts of the world. He will give compelling reasons why cross-cultural worship is essential and provide helpful strategies and clues so we can confidently share this diverse repertoire with our faith communities.

While he is in St. Louis, Dr. Hawn will also give a free workshop at Trinity Presbyterian Church (location of our last Guild meeting) on Saturday, April 28, beginning at 10 a.m. Church musicians, pastors, choir members, and congregants are invited to learn how to sing and lead congregations in music from other cultures. Participants will learn techniques for singing and teaching music to congregations and develop an understanding of the culture and context from which each song comes. Music collections and CDs by Michael Hawn will be available for purchase. All are warmly invited to this special event. For more information, visit Trinity Presbyterian Church's Web site: www.trinityucity.org or call 314-725-3840.

Michael Hawn, professor of church music at Southern Methodist University's Perkins School of Theology, as well as director of SMU's Master of Sacred Music Program, joined the university's faculty in 1992. He holds graduate degrees from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, in Louisville, Ky., and a B.M.E. degree from Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill.

A frequent contributor to many journals, Hawn has published more than 100 articles and reviews, as well as numerous curriculum materials. He is also a student of global music, having received fellowships for the study of music around the world, including visits to Africa, Asia and Latin America. His research led to the

Connections

Have you ever thought of yourself as part of music history? Listening to Christopher Young teach the master-class at our March meeting, I thought about the transfer of ideas between generations of organists — passing on information about registration, technique and interpretation, and passing along the most precious resource, the printed scores.

I've been learning Bach's Concerto in G Major from my mother's second-hand copy of the Widor-Schweitzer edition, published in 1913. My basic approach to playing Bach comes from studying with Edmund Shay, who in turn had studied with Helmut Walcha. Since I've been listening to George Ritchie's recording of the concerto, I'm sure a few of his ideas will be in my performance, too. And the concerto itself: not pure Bach, but Bach's arrangement and organ transcription of a violin concerto in the Italian style by Johann Ernst.

On Easter Sunday morning, with sunlight filling the First Church sanctuary, the Concerto was be a bright affirmation of a joyful day. I was the only person on the organ bench, but what the congregation heard was a combination of ideas from many generations — my small contribution to music history.

RSCM-St. Louis Summer Course in June

The 10th annual Royal School of Church Music St. Louis summer course will be held the week of June 11. Michael Kleinschmidt, director of music and organist at Trinity Church, Copley Square, Boston, will be guest conductor. In addition to the week of choral training for boys, girls, teens and adults, RSCM-STL Executive Director Phillip Brunswick announces two additional study opportunities during the 10th anniversary year.

An intensive four-day Voice for Life training class will be held at Grace Episcopal Church, June 11-14. Enid Oberholtzer will present the sessions, which include materials for children and adults.

There will also be an Organ Master Class taught by Dr. John Romeri. Class size is limited to seven performers (ages 16-adult) and one organ scholar (age 16-22). Participants will receive instruction on individual repertoire and service playing, and play in a final recital. They will also be able to sing with the choir. The organ scholar will have the opportunity to assist with playing for liturgical services during the week. Instruments are the Kilgen/Wicks (118/4) at the Cathedral Basilica of St. Louis and the Aeolian Skinner (70/4) at Christ Church Cathedral.

Deadline to apply for the Organ Master Class is May 1. Applicants should send a recording of two contrasting repertoire pieces (one must be J.S. Bach). Those applying for the Organ Scholar position must also submit a letter with a brief resume of their playing/study experience, and a letter of recommendation from their current instructor.

For details on applying and registering for all the RSCM courses, please contact Phillip Brunswick at bvmcentral@aol.com.

Baylor Summer Study

Dr. Joyce Jones announces two opportunities for study at Baylor University, Waco, Texas. The Summer Organ Institute, June 3-9, is for students ages 11 to 18. No prior organ study is necessary to attend this "hands-on introduction to the pipe organ for pianists and organists." The university will join with the Central Texas AGO Chapter to host a POE+ (for adults), June 24-29. Class size is limited for both events. For information about registration dates and fees, contact Dr. Joyce Jones at 254-710-6509 or Joyce\_Jones@baylor.edu or Karen Johnson at 254-710-1417 or J\_Karen\_Johnson@baylor.edu.

Free Copies of Choral Music

Peter Tkach, whom many of you know and have worked with at various churches and choirs in St. Louis, has decided to give away his choral music. He offers Guild members the opportunity to select items from an extensive collection of scores for masses, requiems and cantatas, plus piles of octavos. He also has books on music and choral conducting, and religion books from his advanced study at Concordia Seminary. Contact Mr. Tkach at 314-968-2644 or petertkach@sbcglobal.net for an appointment to view the collection.

Does This Ring Any Bells?

Heard the story of the mother with the eight-year-old boy who didn't talk? She took him to many specialists without success. Finally a doctor said, "Take the lad to church." "Well," said mum, "we hardly ever go to church but I'll try that." So off they went to church. When the organist began the prelude, the boy turned to his mother and said, "Mum, I have lots of things to say to you." The mother was stunned. She phoned the doctor. "How did you know that going to church would help?" "Easy," said the doctor. "Everyone talks during the prelude!"

Biographical Sketches of Nominees for the Executive Committee

In odd-numbered years, the annual Chapter election is just for Executive Committee members. Three people will be elected to serve a three-year term as the Class of 2010. Thanks to the Chapter members who have agreed to place their names on the ballot, and thanks for the work of the Nominating Committee – Emily Pearce, Nannette Tornblom, and Hank Glass. Please read the biographical sketches of the candidates. Then, using the ballot printed opposite this page, select three of the five candidates. Mail your ballot to Denis Doelling, Chapter auditor. The due date and mailing information are printed on the ballot.

Marcia Hansen

Marcia Hansen has been a music educator for 26 years and currently teaches in the Kirkwood School District at North Glendale Elementary, where she was named Teacher of the Year in 2004. She has served as organist and assistant director of music at Kirkwood United Methodist Church for over 10 years, and is also one of the accompanists for the Kirkwood Children's Choirs. AGO activities include monitoring the OPUS Positions Open listing and obtaining organists for the Daniel Boone Candlelight Holiday Tour. She holds degrees from the University of Missouri - Kansas City Conservatory of Music and Webster University. She enjoys playing for weddings and accompanying high school and middle school students for the district and state festivals. When not making music, she can be found on a beach or at the Lake of the Ozarks enjoying boating with her husband Craig, an engineer and project manager with Wm. Tao Associates. They have two adult children, Katie and Mike, and new son-in-law Will.

Brent Johnson

Brent Johnson serves as organist at Third Baptist Church in the Grand Center District. He came to St. Louis from Dallas, Texas, where he studied organ with Robert T. Anderson at Southern Methodist University and graduated with a degree in music education. In 1998, he joined the service department of the Wicks Organ Company, Highland, Ill. At Wicks, Brent was also responsible for print design and redesigning and maintaining the extensive Wicks Web site until June 2006. Currently Brent teaches piano and organ in the St. Louis area and produces the Internet audio station Organlive.com, as well as Organclassifieds.com and maintains several independent Web sites. He has been a member of the St. Louis AGO Chapter since 2000.

Stephen Jones

Stephen Jones received two Bachelor's degrees from the University of Massachusetts, one in music composition and theory, and one in English literature. In 1984 he received a Master of Music in composition and theory from the State University College, Fredonia, N.Y. He holds Missouri state certification to teach vocal music (K-12), and currently is teaching at the Shaw Visual and Performing Arts Magnet School in St. Louis. Stephen entered the field of church music almost by accident when he needed money to support himself as a student. He answered an ad for a choir director at a small church and enjoyed the experience. When he moved to St. Louis, he contacted the Archdiocese looking for a similar position. This led to organ lessons with John Walsh, and a membership in the Guild. Stephen is organist/pianist and choir director at The Church of the Open Door U.C.C. in Webster Groves. He is also active as a composer.

Regina Morris

Regina Pilch Morris has been a St. Louis AGO Chapter member since the mid-1980's. She served as the registrar for the AGO Regional Convention in St. Louis in 1987. She studied with Dr. Richard Benedum at the University of Dayton (B.S., geology, 1973) and John Powel Walsh at the University of Missouri, St. Louis (B. M., Ed., 2001). Her M.S. degree from Fontbonne U. (2005) is in computer education. Regina has been the music teacher at St. Roch School in the Central West End since 1995. She has also served as organist at Immaculate Conception Church in Maplewood (1983-1995); Maplewood Christian Church (1987-1999); and St. Agatha/St. Francis de Sales Churches (2002-2006).

Shawn Portell

A native of Festus, Shawn P. Portell has served Webster Groves Presbyterian Church as director of music ministries/organist since July 1995. He directs the adult Chancel Choir, Contemporary Arts Ensemble, Ely Ringers and serves as senior organist for all services. He oversees a comprehensive ministry of 15 different musical opportunities from Kindermusik classes to adult ensembles. Shawn also oversees the "Music in a Great Place" series, a unique approach to a traditional "concert series" of 14 worship and concert events each year. He was previously director of music ministries/organist at the United Methodist Church, Seward, Neb., and choirmaster/organist at Graystone Presbyterian Church, Indiana, Pa. He has been an active organist and church musician since the age of 12. Shawn received Bachelor of Music Education (vocal music) and Bachelor of Music in Performance (organ) degrees from Southeast Missouri State University and a Master of Music degree in Performance (organ) and Sacred Music from the University of Nebraska – Lincoln. He has served previously on the executive committee of the St. Louis AGO Chapter and is a member of the Presbyterian Association of Musicians.
